Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The above claim is unclear and indefinite in its scope in that it depends from a cancelled claim (claim 1) thereby rendering the scope of the claim unascertainable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 15-19, 24 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Osborn. Osborn teaches a device for injecting a treatment gas (4 for example) into a tank, or vessel containing molten metal (1) through the nozzle or tuyere (4) which includes mobile means comprising a “clean out bar” (21), with a manually operable handle (23) and packing (26) allowing for leak tightness while inserting the bar, which meets the limitation of a mobile means for unblocking and passing through the end of the end hole of the nozzle of the tuyere, as well as guidance means (see figure 3 for example), thereby showing all aspects of the above claims since the term “dimensioned to interact with the nozzle” to maintain leak tightness does not preclude the use of a packing, which would abut both the bar and nozzle thereby causing the bar to “interact” with the nozzle through the pressure the bar applied to the packing and thereby through and to the nozzle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 20-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Osborn in view of Hartmann. As applied to claim 15 above, Osborn shows all aspects of the above claims except the use of either automated control means, guidance means or a bar of decreasing diameter. However, Hartmann teaches that in a device for injecting a treatment gas (the tuyere B) into a tank, or vessel containing molten metal (the blast furnace) which includes a “pricker bar” (R) which meets the limitation of a mobile means for unblocking the end hole of the nozzle of the tuyere, it was known in the art at the time the invention was made to equip the “mobile means” with automated controls (the piston arrangement), as well as guidance means (see figure 3 for example) and to shape the rod with a decreasing diameter in order to increase the overall efficiency to the cleaning operation. Because improved efficiency would also be desirable in Osborn, motivation to include the improvements recited by Hartmann (automated control means, guidance means and a bar of decreasing diameter) in the system of Osborn, would have been modifications obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 15-25 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
